Tailor Schwalme Chose the Dawn of Day to End His Life

this morning by shooting himself on the skiewalk opposite 363 West Thirty-sixth street leeman heard two shots, and running up found the suicide lying dead. He had seated himself on the curbstone and then fired one shot into the gutter to see if the platel was working. The second white brow the deepened tust of the cleek, these shot he fired into his brain. The bullet associated with brightness and sulmation of the passed through the right temple, and death ere, a cheery expression of the countenance, are was instantaneous.

longings and scraped up enough money to pay for his passage. After he had sold everything he had he went to stop with a friend of his named Jacob Schlenker, living at 400 West Thirty-sixth street.

Last Wednesday he was to have salied. He bid his friends good-by and left to go on board the steamer. He came back, however, and said be was too sick to go. He was very feeble and it was with difficulty that he kept on his feet. Last night he got up in the middle of the night and tert the house. The last he are the history of the history of the was very feeble and of his was when he shot himself. In his pocket was found a letter addressed to his friend schlenker in which he said he was treed of life and that he was sorry to do this, but he knew he couldn't live long. He requested that a decent burial be given him and sent greetings to all his irriends.

The suickde's body was taken to the West Thirty-seventh street police station and the coroner was notified.
